Re: Jason Delay

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is my sincere honor to recommend Jason Delay to your baseball program. Jason is a unique talent and will contribute positively to any organization, in and out of baseball.

After some years of coaching travel baseball against Jason's team, my first opportunity to coach Jason occurred in 2009. He was among twelve players hand-picked from all across Georgia to travel to Omaha, Nebraska to compete in two major national tournaments. While an outstanding group of young men, their time together and with me was extremely short. As our starting catcher, Jason had to learn about the strengths and weaknesses of a variety of new pitchers, adapt to my philosophies about baseball, and, of course, perform himself. The result was a dominating week for Jason, a strong showing for the team, and, thanks to him, one of the easiest weeks I have ever experienced coaching.

Jason's baseball work ethic at practice and professionalism on the field are complemented by his ability to lead and support his teammates in the dugout. Quantitatively and qualitatively evaluating the tremendous talent available to your organization is a daunting task. In terms of every conceivable tangible and intangible quality a player could have, I strongly believe Jason deserves the highest marks and I am confident that you will enjoy your relationship with him immensely, as have I.

Sincerely,

Michael B. Moffett
